

CAMERAS DECODED

The Educator Opportunity

- A turnkey curriculum business for working photographers

If someone has ever asked you to teach them photography — this is for you.

The average Cameras Decoded Educator License generates nearly $25,000 in annual revenue from workshops, cohorts, and student affiliate commissions.

The license costs $2,500.

That's a 10x return before the second cohort runs.

- The Problem You Already Know

You're a working photographer. You've built skill, instinct, and a way of seeing the world through your camera that took years to develop.

Friends ask you to teach them. Clients ask you to teach them. Social media followers ask you to teach them.

You've thought about it. You know you could do it well.

But every time you sit down to build a curriculum, the same thing happens. Forty hours of unpaid lesson planning ahead of you. Slide decks to design. Assessments to write. Credentials to figure out. The teaching part you can handle. The infrastructure part is what stops you.

So you keep saying "maybe next year." - This is what next year looks like.

- The Solution Already Built

The Cameras Decoded Educator License hands you a complete, ready-to-teach operator confidence curriculum.

You receive:

- A 100+ slide co-branded deck covering every chapter
- A four-week intensive syllabus, plus eight-week relaxed and self-paced delivery formats
- A three-hour Operator's Initiation workshop script — ready to run
- Student assessments, quizzes, and the final field session project
- The Certified Operator credentialing system — your students earn digital badges
- A student referral affiliate program — you earn 20% on every guide purchase
- A workshop summary email template and seven-day follow-up sequence
- Quarterly curriculum updates delivered automatically

Every asset is co-branded with your organization alongside the Cameras Decoded mark.

You teach. We credential. Your students leave as operators.

- The Math

Revenue Stream:	Annual Potential:
Four-week cohorts — 10 students at $300, run 4x per year $12,000	Student affiliate referrals — passive commission tail $500-2,000+
Three-hour Initiation Workshops — 15 attendees at $67, run monthly $12,000	Estimated annual gross revenue $24,500+
License cost: $2,500 per year.
The license pays for itself after a single four-week cohort or two workshops.
Everything after that is profit.

The Educator Opportunity

That's a 10x return before the second cohort runs.

- A turnkey curriculum business for working photographers
- What This Actually Looks Like

Monday morning — you open the slide deck for Week Two, review the session notes already written, and prep a 90-minute lesson on the Mode Dial Decision Tree. Total prep time — 20 minutes.

Tuesday evening — you run the session with twelve students. The slides do the heavy lifting. You teach what you already know.

Thursday — three students submit their homework. You review and respond.

Friday — you receive a notification that a former student just purchased the full Camera Confidence Guide through your affiliate link. Commission deposited automatically.

Saturday — you take the day off.

This is the rhythm.

- The Right Educator

This license fits you if:

- You have five to fifteen years of working photography experience
- You have a network — clients, social followers, peers — who already ask you for advice
- You're comfortable teaching in person, online, or both
- You want a real side revenue stream without building it from scratch
- You believe operator confidence is a teachable skill, not a personality trait

This license does not fit you if you're looking for a quick affiliate side hustle without teaching, or if you're not comfortable being the human face of your own workshops.

- Beyond the Revenue

Every workshop you run produces real operators who had a real transformation in real time.

Every cohort produces Certified Operators wearing the Cameras Decoded badge on LinkedIn.

Every student who shares the guide is a word-of-mouth moment you didn't have to engineer.

You're not just licensing a curriculum. You're joining a network of educators building documented student outcomes that compound over years.

The license is the entry point.

The credentials, the affiliate tail, the brand association —that is the real long-term value.

- The Qualification Process

The Educator License is not available for immediate purchase. Quality control matters.

Step one — watch three Signal Foundry sample lessons to confirm the brand voice and curriculum structure resonate with how you teach.

Step two — submit a five-minute teaching sample showing how you would deliver a curriculum concept.

Step three — a 30-minute orientation call with the Signal Keeper. This is a quality check and a fit conversation, not a sales call.

Upon approval, the license activates within 48 hours and your portal access opens immediately.

- The Promise

You built your skill the hard way. The teaching part doesn't have to be.

I built the curriculum, the credentials, the assessments, the referral system, and the brand.

Your job is to show up and teach what you already know.

Your students leave as Certified Operators. The license pays for itself in weeks. Everything after is profit.
